

Just take a look at the type of advertising that Weiss are constantly sending trying to get more subscription fees in, ask yourself what has memorial day got to do with Weiss asking for your money with a DEEP discount, with the justification for the $50 rise on the subscription being the postage has gone up from 42 cents to 44 cents.

With regards to the new top research specialists being hired who helped warn against the bear market rally well ask why were all the option alerts that were sent out during the rally all PUTS which lost money, ask for this information, only very recently have they moved to calls, the data shows that they never saw the rally coming and were late to switch to calls, in the mean time subscribers lost money hand over fist, all because they have focused in on the doom and gloom scaring people into thinking Weiss have the power and insight to save the "little man" now look at the data and you will be able to see for yourself, the adverts attached are just a few as there are far to many to show but they all have the same theme, hurry up to subscribe to get your discount and the doom and gloom added which gives Weiss to opportunity to step in and save you! At a price of course.
